Your style.
Your signature.

A life, unmistakably yours.

Perhaps you know
this place already.
Even though you have never been there.

Perhaps you have pictured it before. No floor plan
yet. Just a feeling that was already yours.

A life that feels like you.

THE WORLD OF TREVENTI

You already know
the sound of morning.

A page turns. Light slips in softly. The day can wait.

Moments

03

THE BEGINNING

One day, you keep a promise to yourself.

Someday becomes today.

You can already hear the voices you love.

Music. Laughter. An evening no one wants to end.

You know who you want beside you.

People you never have to explain yourself to. With them, even an ordinary day feels special.

And you begin to see who you might become.

You make room for the part of you still waiting to grow.

Then you begin to choose.

The light you long for. A colour that stirs something in you. A line your eyes keep returning to.

With every choice, the vision becomes clearer. And a little more your own.

THE WORLD OF TREVENTI

You feel the devotion in every detail.

In the way things meet. The way they move. The quiet ease of everything falling into place.

Moments

10

Slowly, a feeling begins to take shape.

A line. A sense of proportion. A material caught in morning light. And suddenly, you see yourself in it.

What moves you bears your signature.

Little by little, your choices become a world that feels like you.

Your style. Your signature.

Until one day, you open a door and no longer wonder how you want to live.

Because you are already living it.

So many possibilities. Your signature.

Every door opens onto a story. Every room holds something of the people who bring it to life.

Find the design that feels like you.

Blanco

SNOW WHITE

The world can wait.

Sometimes, the loveliest things begin with a quiet morning. The day is still yours to imagine. This moment, yours to keep. In the gentle stillness of white, there is room for everything that matters to you.

A smooth Snow White surface. Dark accents and warm wood complete the restful bedroom setting.

Strada

A quiet line.
A path of your own.

We often recognise ourselves in the smallest things. A line. A sliver of light. A choice that simply feels right. Strada gives that feeling a form: something quietly personal, with nothing left to explain.

Fine vertical lines define the white door surface, framed by pale wood and light falling from the side.

METÁ RETTA

SNOW WHITE

To your own rhythm.

The world outside keeps its own time. Here, you set the pace. Quiet lines, clear light, the familiar turn of a handle. A few considered choices become a place where you can feel entirely yourself again.

Horizontal contours in Snow White. A light composition with a dark handle and natural tones.

Strada

DUST GREY / GLAZED

A glimpse of what lies beyond.

A door can hold a hint of the life on its other side. A light left on. A passing movement. The comforting sense of someone nearby. When that glimpse becomes a shared moment is entirely up to you.

Dust Grey with a slender vertical glass panel. A dark border emphasises its clean outline.

Blanco

SNOW WHITE / GLAZED / DOUBLE-LEAF

For evenings that linger.

The glasses are ready. Someone has another story to tell. Nobody is watching the time. Some rooms seem made for these evenings, gathering people and memories with the same easy grace. And some doors feel as though they have always belonged there.

White, divided glazing in a generous living space. Light and views connect the adjoining areas.

Blanco

SNOW WHITE / GLAZED

Closeness needs few words.

You read a few more pages while someone sets the table next door. Each of you is absorbed in a little world of your own, yet the feeling of being together never leaves. Sometimes, a little light from the other side is enough.

Snow White with divided glazing. A light frame meets dark hardware and warm interior tones.

Premium Oak Combo

OAK EFFECT / DARK FRAME

Warmth, beautifully defined.

You like things that feel at home together. The warmth of wood grain. The clarity of a dark line. There is a lovely ease in their meeting: calm, open and inviting. Like a welcome that needs no words.

Vertical oak grain within a dark frame. The lively texture takes centre stage in a light interior.

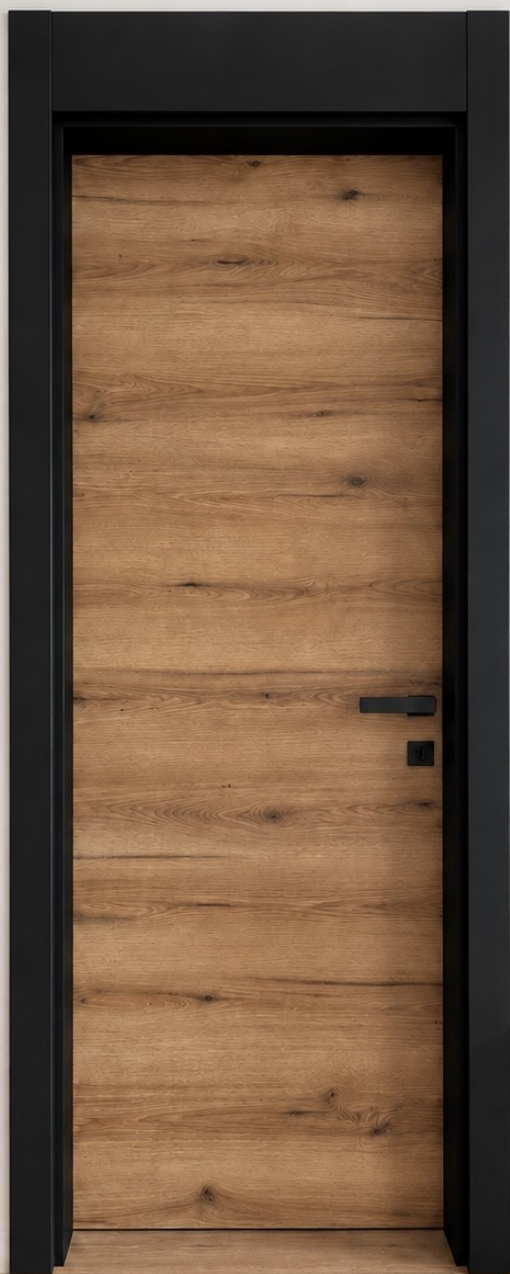

Oklahoma Oak Combo

OAK EFFECT / DARK FRAME

A welcome all your own.

Even before you take off your coat, you feel it. The familiar warmth. The things you chose simply because you loved them. Home knows how to welcome you. Often, it is the smallest details that say the most.

Horizontal oak grain and a black frame. Natural tones and carefully chosen objects accompany the distinctive surface.

Bakersfield Walnut Combo

WALNUT EFFECT / DARK FRAME

When the day grows quiet.

A room changes as evening settles in. Shadows soften. Conversations slow. There is something familiar in the deep warmth of walnut, as though this place has always known just how you like to come home after a long day.

Dark walnut grain within a black frame. Warm light brings out the depth of the finish.

FiloMuro

SNOW WHITE

The quiet art of design.

Some choices are felt almost before they are noticed. A wall remains calm. A line carries on. Nothing asks for attention. And somehow, the whole room finds the very stillness you have been looking for.

A flush-to-wall design in Snow White. The door becomes part of the light wall surface.

Blanco

JET BLACK / GLAZED / SLIDING DOOR

Room for something new.

Let the conversation wander. Let the evening unfold. Sometimes, a single movement makes familiar rooms feel new again. You decide how close the moment brings you, and how much space to leave for whatever happens next.

A black sliding door with divided glazing and a visible overhead cover. A distinctive connection between rooms.

Rubin

SNOW WHITE / DOUBLE-LEAF

A sense of occasion.
An unhurried grace.

You open the door, and an ordinary arrival feels a little more special. The proportions feel right. The light falls softly. There is a quiet generosity to the space, and something in it that feels unmistakably like you.

A double-leaf design in Snow White. Curved and straight contours come together in a calm composition.

Deggendorf

SNOW WHITE

Familiar. Yet entirely yours.

Some shapes feel like a lovely memory. There is a sense of continuity in them, and room for something new. In a light-filled interior, familiar forms take on fresh life. Through your choices, they become part of your own story.

Classical contours in Snow White, accompanied by warm wood tones.

Blanco

SNOW WHITE / BLACK GRID-STYLE GLAZING

A frame for everyday life.

A table laid for dinner. A chair waiting for someone. A bright room beyond. Your eye catches little glimpses of the life unfolding around you. Together, they make a picture that is never quite the same from one day to the next.

A white door with dark divisions within the glazing. Light and black lines give structure to the view beyond.

Zaffiro

SNOW WHITE / GLAZED

Light, softly held.

Some things are lovelier when they reveal themselves slowly. Light from the next room. A sense of calm beyond a pale surface. An atmosphere draws you in gently, leaving a little room for your imagination.

Snow White with a generous glass panel. A light frame and dark handle create a quiet contrast.

Artistic

OLIVE GREEN

A little nature. A little you.

Perhaps this colour has stayed with you for years. From a garden. A journey. A passing moment you have never quite forgotten. Now it finds a place in your everyday life, making the familiar feel a little more your own.

Olive Green with finely defined contours. Dark hardware and muted interior colours complete the design.

Blanco

CHERRY RED / GLAZED

Trust what moves you.

Some colours speak to something deeper than the eye. A memory. A longing. A quiet certainty. Cherry Red can be that colour for you. Because home is also a place to give the things you love a little room to shine.

A deep red tone with divided glazing. Dark accents give definition to the coloured surface.

EDO4

SNOW WHITE

Beauty in the quiet details.

Often, it is the understated things that stay with us. A subtle transition. A pleasing proportion. A clear white surface that changes with the light. And the lasting pleasure of knowing you chose something that feels just right.

Subtly framed contours in Snow White. The light door complements a warm, restrained bedroom setting.

Premium Oak Combo

STRADA / GLAZED

A thread of light through warm wood.

You feel the warmth at once. The glimpse beyond reveals itself a little later. Together, they give the room its personal character: the comfort of the familiar, and a gentle openness to whatever might be waiting on the other side.

Vertical oak grain with a dark frame and a narrow glass panel. A clear line adds a precise accent.

Artistic

SNOW WHITE

A gentle touch.

A soft curve can change the feeling of an entire room. It lends warmth to clarity, a human touch to a simple form. Like a small kindness that stays with you long after the moment itself has passed.

Snow White with a curved upper contour. A delicate detail within a calm, light surface.

Retta Combo

LIGHT SURFACE / WOOD-TONED FRAME

Where clarity meets warmth.

Perhaps there is room for both. The lightness you love and the warmth you need. A quiet surface and a frame alive with character. Sometimes, a room begins to feel truly yours at the meeting of two things you have always loved.

Horizontal lines across a light door surface. A wood-toned frame adds a warm counterpoint.

Blanco

SNOW WHITE / SPECIAL EDITION

Room for a clearer mind.

The window is open. The morning is taking its time. In a room shaped around the essentials, your thoughts begin to settle too. Everything you need is here. For this moment, that is more than enough.

A smooth white door alongside grey wall tones. The clear design gives the surrounding materials space to speak.

Rubin

SNOW WHITE

The beauty of the familiar.

You pass it every day. Yet sometimes, your eye lingers a little longer. On a contour, a gentle depth, the light across white. Good design becomes part of everyday life while quietly keeping its power to move you.

Classical detailing in Snow White. Fine contours lend depth to the light surface.

Premium Oak

OAK EFFECT

Warmth that flows through.

From floor to door, a feeling of warmth runs through the room. The grain, the pale walls, the soft light: everything feels connected. And you begin to sense how all those individual choices have become something whole.

An oak-effect door and frame. The vertical grain gives the entire composition its natural character.

FiloMuro

OAK

A wall.
A world beyond.

Your eye follows the wood grain, pausing over its pattern before wandering on. Only then do you notice the opening. A door woven into the architecture, quietly carrying its story into the space beyond.

An integrated door within a continuous wood design. The oak grain connects the wall and passageway.

Blanco

CASHMERE

The softer side of coming home.

Some rooms welcome us like a gentle voice. Warm undertones. An easy stillness. Cashmere belongs to this mood: a colour for those moments when you begin to unwind, and the weight of the day slowly slips away.

A smooth Cashmere surface. The soft shade sits naturally with muted green and pale wood.

Oklahoma Oak Combo

GLAZED / DOUBLE-LEAF

Open to beautiful encounters.

Someone walks in, and the room comes to life. Laughter. An embrace. The beginning of a lovely evening. Warm wood tones and generous glimpses beyond make space for these small arrivals, and everything they bring with them.

Oak grain with dark framing and divided glazing. A double-leaf design with clear contrasts.

Blum Oak

OAK EFFECT / DARK FRAME

A grain that stays with you.

You can look for a long time and still discover something new. A change in direction, a shade, a little movement in the grain. Perhaps you cannot quite explain why you love it. You simply know that it belongs in your world.

Lively vertical oak grain in a dark frame. The pattern gives the calm surface its individual expression.

Hotel Room Combo

WOOD EFFECT / BLACK ACCENTS

At home.
For a little while.

Your bag is still in the hall. Outside, an unfamiliar city waits. Yet already, you feel at ease: warm light, clear forms, a room that seems to welcome you personally. Thoughtful design can turn an arrival into a moment of rest.

A composition of wood-effect finishes and black door surfaces. Dark frames bring the different elements together.

Bakersfield Walnut Combo

GLAZED

An evening in warm tones.

Beyond the glass, a soft chair is waiting. A light is still on. Perhaps there is time at last for the conversation the day left unfinished. Deep walnut grain gives the moment a richness of its own, and coming home a special warmth.

Walnut grain, black framing and glass panels with contrasting divisions. Light and views animate the broad composition.

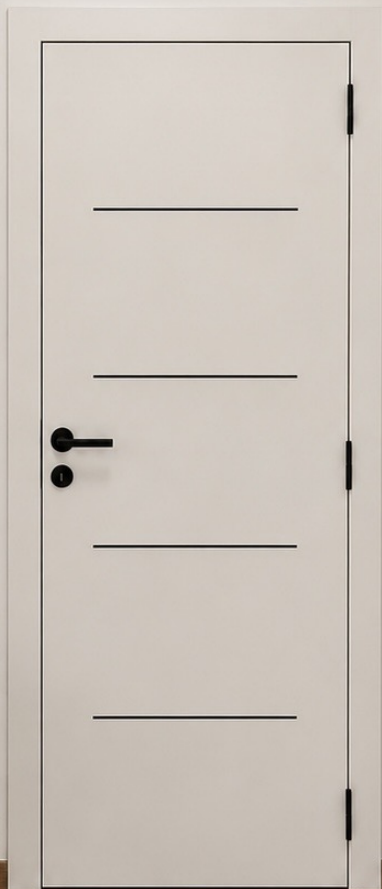

Retta-Alu

BLACK

A quiet rhythm for every day.

Morning has its little rituals. Reaching for a book. One last look around. The door belongs to the scene like a familiar line in a favourite poem. Dark, clear strokes give the light surface a rhythm that gently accompanies your day.

Black horizontal accents on a light door surface. The lines stand clearly against the calm white finish.

Blanco

JET BLACK / GLAZED

Where depth meets light.

You love contrasts that feel made for each other. Deep black and a bright glimpse beyond. A clear boundary and a sense of connection. There is something compelling in that balance, giving the room a character that is entirely its own.

Jet Black with divided glazing. The dark surface creates a distinctive frame for the light beyond.

Blanco

SNOW WHITE / GLAZED / DOUBLE-LEAF

A little more grace in every day.

There need not be a special occasion. An ordinary morning deserves its share of beauty too. As light falls through the glass and your eye wanders beyond, a simple passage becomes a small pleasure that belongs entirely to you.

A double-leaf design in Snow White with divided glazing. Warm metallic tones and fitted cabinetry complement the light setting.

Blanco

SNOW WHITE / GLAZED / DOUBLE-LEAF

Let the afternoon linger.

The conversation loses track of time. A cup still rests on the table. Green, white and warm wood lend the room an ease you begin to share. You realise how little it can take to wish you were nowhere else.

White double doors with divided glazing. A light, restful focal point within the green living room.

Bakersfield Walnut Combo

GLAZED

A familiar view.
A new day.

Morning light tells a different story from evening light. There is a book on the table; someone has brought flowers. Through the glass, everyday life becomes an ever-changing picture, held within the enduring warmth of walnut.

Walnut grain with dark framing and a divided glass panel. A warm accent within the living space.

Zaffiro

DUST GREY / BLACK GRID-STYLE GLAZING

A quiet sense of someone nearby.

Sometimes, closeness is just a glimmer of light. The knowledge that life continues in the next room. Dust Grey keeps the mood calm, while dark lines give it definition. A space for those who love clarity and notice the subtleties.

Dust Grey with a dark-bordered glass panel. Grey interior tones and black accents continue the composition.

Oklahoma Oak Combo

GLAZED / DOUBLE-LEAF

Every visit, a new beginning.

You recognise the footsteps. In a moment, someone will come in with a story to tell and a little of their day to share. The warm tones are ready to greet them. Through the glass, the welcome has already begun.

Horizontal oak grain with a black frame and divided glass panels. A generous double-leaf connection between rooms.

Blanco

SNOW WHITE / WITH OVERLIGHT

A little more sky in the room.

Sometimes, light finds a way in almost unnoticed. High above the familiar handle, a bright pane opens up the space. The room feels lighter, as though there will always be a little room above the everyday for a new thought to take flight.

A smooth Snow White door with a glass panel above. The overlight carries the light design upwards.

Blanco

JET BLACK

The strength of quiet confidence.

When a choice feels right, it needs very little around it. Deep black. A clear form. The warmth of wood and a soft fall of light. A room finds its character when you trust your own sense of what belongs.

A smooth Jet Black surface. The dark door forms a calm counterpoint to pale walls and natural tones.

METÁ RETTA

DUST GREY

Calm, line by line.

At the end of a day, it is good to feel things settling into place. Your thoughts. Your belongings. The room around you. Horizontal contours and a quiet grey give your eye somewhere to rest, and you the feeling of being home.

Dust Grey with horizontal detailing. Dark hardware and warm wood tones complete the understated surface.

Blanco

DUST GREY / BLACK GRID-STYLE GLAZING

A view with quiet depth.

A restrained room can tell a rich story. Of light from next door. Of a colour you chose with care. Of your love for clear lines. And of the quiet pleasure of recognising yourself in the choices you have made.

Dust Grey with black grid-style glazing. The calm colour brings light surfaces and dark details together.

Blanco

JET BLACK

A welcome with quiet confidence.

The key finds its place. The world outside carries on. Here, you are greeted by dark depth, warm wood and an easy glow. Sometimes, the feeling of home begins with a single choice you knew was right.

Jet Black in a warmly lit entrance setting. Wood, dark surfaces and light walls form a calm composition.

Premium Oak

GLAZED / DOUBLE-LEAF

Warmth opens the view.

You love it when rooms seem to speak to one another. When wood brings warmth and glass carries the eye further. Beyond the door, another part of your own world is waiting, as familiar and welcoming as the room you leave behind.

Oak grain with generous glass panels. The double-leaf design combines natural tones and light-filled views.

Retta-Alu

SILVER

Drawn by the light.

Some details change as the day unfolds. They emerge, soften, catch a passing gleam. Silver-toned lines lend this subtle life to a light surface. Quietly beautiful, and worth another look every time you pass.

Silver-toned horizontal accents on a light door surface. A subtle interplay of line and light.

Premium Oak Combo

GLAZED / DOUBLE-LEAF

Room for all that brings us together.

One last look through the glass. Beyond it waits your own life, with its conversations, favourite corners and little rituals. Perhaps the loveliest door is simply the one that makes you a little happier to come home each day.

Vertical oak grain, black framing and divided glass panels. The double-leaf design opens the view into the living room.

An expression of you.
